Item 1.01. Conflict Minerals Disclosure and Report

Conflict Minerals Disclosure

Sensus Healthcare, Inc. is a medical device company that is committed to providing non-invasive and cost-effective treatment for non-melanoma skin cancers and keloids. Our products use a proprietary low-energy X-ray technology known as superficial radiation therapy ("SRT"), which is a result of over a decade of dedicated research and development. We have successfully incorporated SRT into our portfolio of treatment devices, the SRT-100™ and SRT-100 Vision™. To date, SRT technology has been used to effectively and safely treat oncological and non-oncological skin conditions in thousands of patients.

We do not purchase any "conflict minerals," which includes columbite-tantalite (coltan), cassiterite, gold, wolframite, and their derivatives, tantalum, tin and tungsten (the "Subject Minerals"), directly from mines, smelters or refiners, nor do we have any direct relationship with any mines or smelters that process these minerals. We rely on our direct and indirect suppliers of raw materials for use in our products to provide information about the existence and origin of any Subject Minerals contained in our products. In addition, we use a third party manufacturer to manufacture our products. Thus, we generally do not have contractual relationships with our indirect suppliers. We have evaluated the products that we contract to manufacture, including the SRT-100™ and SRT-100 Vision™, and determined that such products contain one or more of the Subject Minerals. We made this determination after reviewing our contract manufacturer's bills of material and other sources of information provided by our suppliers in response to our due diligence undertakings.

None of the direct or indirect suppliers that responded to our inquiries provided information indicating that any Subject Minerals contained in our products come from the Democratic Republic of the Congo or its neighboring countries or were not from recycled or scrap sources.
